

INCUNABLE PRODUCTIONS OPTIONS GIVE + TAKE

For Release May 22, 2014

Incunable Productions (IP) announces its debut option of Give + Take, a popular novel by Stona Fitch, for film and television. Published by Thomas Dunne Books in 2010, this both dark and comedic satire tells the story of Ross Clifton, a traveling jazz pianist who puts his deft fingers to use afterhours, stealing millions in diamonds and BMWs – then giving it all away. A gifted grifter, Clifton thrives on the road until he’s lured into new, dangerous territory. Give + Take has appeared in many foreign editions, from the UK to Greece to Taiwan. And it inspired the Concord Free Press, Fitch’s generosity-based publishing house.

Founded by Hollywood and Wall Street veterans, Incunable Productions is a new partnership formed by Matt Kennedy and Barbara Brandfass to acquire and develop a portfolio of diverse literary properties for international film and television projects. IP seeks to exploit the opportunity arising from significant changes to the way content is created, monetized and experienced.
